Forecast For Northern Ireland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Thursday 28 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain early, late today, but turning dry, bright for time.

This Evening and Tonight:
Some showery rain at first this evening, some heavy, but turning clearer from the west. Mostly dry overnight but cloud and patchy rain arriving in the morning. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Friday:
A rather cloudy day with occasional mainly light rain and drizzle at times, with the best chance of any sunnier interludes across the south. Light winds/. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Saturday starting cloudy and damp in south then sunshine spreading from north. Cloudier again on Monday but mainly dry then sunnier on Tuesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.